Festival of the Arts

April 21st to 26th

The OKC Arts Festival has just wrapped up, running from Apr. 21st thru the 26th and was a prime opportunity for us to display our art and talk up the club and show. Attendance was a little slow early on due to cool and damp weather, but ended up with a bang with lots of sunshine. Dan and Elaine Nealy were exhibiting their turned and burned collaborations to the responsive crowds. Thanks to all that volunteered to man our booth and promote the club, and pass out show fliers.

David Koelsch, John Hale and John Amicon were demonstrating and communicating with visitors at this year's Arts Festival.

EDMOND WOODCARVERS

On April 30th, the Edmond Woodcarvers group hosted a visitation from a number of men from the VA Hospital. The VA group meets Tues. and Fri to carve canes and walking sticks using a variety of hardwoods, such as zebra and lacewood. As they are in a federal building they are not allowed to have knives or gouges due to weapons control, so they do all of their shaping using rasps and files.

The Gentry family very generously donated all of Bob's files to the VA for use by the group. There were six or so carvers and a couple of VA staffers that came and asked lots of questions, and were receptive to having people come and provide the VA an occasional program on carving.

Generous Donation

The Gentry family is preparing to have their estate sale soon and have sent all of Bob's woodcarving reference books, videos, and magazines to be sold at our next meeting.

There are a large number of excellent "How To" books by Norbury, Jack Hamm, Chris Pye and many others. Bring cash and be ready for this great Shoppportunity!!!! These will also make great door prizes for future meetings!!

OCWC PATCHES

In the April meeting, the club voted to allow John Amicon to find a vendor to make more of our club patches. The members voted to spend up to $350 on the patches. That money will be recovered with the sale of the batches. Thank you John for being willing to get the OCWC patches for the club.

Steve Brandt presented a great program for us in April. He showed us different kinds of chip carvings and brought many carvings he had done. Also, a special thank you to Steve for sharing his time and talent with our group.
