AT OUR LAST MEETING...

With eleven members in attendance, we had a stronger showing at our last meeting than we did the month before.

Pete Zachry gave a PowerPoint presentation that included a little information about his background and pictures of a few of his carvings as well as carvings that were done by other artists that he found to be especially impressive. Some were hundreds of years old. Others were very large. They ran the gamut from realistic to abstract. All of them were remarkable. Unfortunately, we ran out of time before he ran out of pictures, so we hope to see the rest of his presentation at a future meeting.

For Show and Tell, Richard Dalke shared the two knife blade covers that he carved and painted – Smiley and Grumpy. Each one has a magnet inside that holds it in place.

Honey Witcher told us a little about a graceful dancer that she created from a tap root of unknown origin. She and Pete Zachry collaborated on the design.

She also showed three cats that Pete carved from holly, cherry, and maple. After the meeting, Pete posted the pattern for the cats on the OCWC Facebook page.

Tom Copeland brought in a bas relief that he has been carving from Colorado beetle kill pine. He used the Colorscape phone app to make a carving pattern from a photo.

Marvin Jones is already prepared for the holidays. He shared a Christmas tree topper that he whitewashed and then chip-carved. He told us that the angled surfaces made carving it a real challenge, but he still managed to do a fine job. He also shared three small, chip-carved sleds. Last, but not least, he shared a bas relief of a dogwood branch with blossoms and leaves that he carved from a modified pattern that he found in one of Kevin Walker's books on relief carving.

Evan Vinson shared three pieces with us, a finely done cowboy caricature, a man holding a coffee mug that he calls Break Time, and a toy horse that he carved and painted.

Steve Brandt's Friendship Cane

Evan Vinson, Ralph Ganick, and Richard Dalke met at Steve's home to give him the friendship cane from the Club members. Steve said, "I want to thank everybody who had a hand in this Friendship Cane. It really means a lot to me to have everybody do something like this."

Elaine Nealey brought back the eye that she began burning at last month's demo.

Oh, these carvings are just beautiful. I will really treasure this in the future. Thank you all so much.” Steve Brandt

NOTES FROM THE PRESIDENT:

Remember to bring your sharp tools and safety gear as well as those nifty Show & Tells!

CLASSES FOR VETERANS

The VA is organizing a woodcarving class to be held at the Will Rogers Senior Center at 3501 Pat Murphy Drive, not far from where our monthly meetings are held. They will take place on Tuesdays from 8:30 a.m. to 11:00 a.m., and the class will be made up of five to ten carvers of various skill levels. The usual safety measures will be in place.

Evan Vinson, with the help of one or two other volunteers, has been teaching an online class for beginning woodcarvers each Tuesday at 1:00 p.m. The purpose of these classes is to provide therapy for the participants.

Volunteer instructors of any skill level are needed for both classes. If you are interested in helping out our vets, please contact Evan.
